3. INVENTIVE STEP

- 3.1 The present application meets the criteria of Article 33(1) PCT, because the subject-matter of claims 1-16 involves an inventive step in the sense of Article 33(3) PCT.
- 3.2 The document D1 is regarded as being the closest prior art for the subject-matter of claim 1.
- 3.3 In the light of D1, the problem to be solved is the provision of a fertile transplastomic leguminous plant. The solution provided is a fertile transplastomic soybean.
- 3.4 This solution is regarded as involving an inventive step. The prior art (as for example D1 or D3) shows that a solution to the problem to which the present invention relates was continually being sought, and this long felt want is satisfied by the invention. The same holds for related claims 2-16.

4. INDUSTRIAL APPLICABILITY

- 4.1 The subject-matter of claims 1-16 seems to be susceptible of industrial applicability as defined in Article 33(4) PCT.

Re Item V

Reasoned statement with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability;
citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Reference is made to the following documents, D2 has been introduced by the applicant:

- D1: WO 99/10513 A (DANIELL HENRY ;UNIV AUBURN (US)) 4 March 1999 (1999-03-04)
- D2: DANIELL H. ET AL. (2004); "Chloroplast genetic engineering" in "Molecular Biology and Biotechnology of Plant Organelles", pages 443-490. Eds: Daniell H. and Chase Ch.; Kluwer Academic Publishers, The Netherlands.
- D3: ZHANG, X.-H. ET AL.: "Plastid transformation of soybean suspension cultures" JOURNAL OF PLANT BIOTECHNOLOGY, vol. 3, no. 1, January 2001, pages 39-44

2. NOVELTY

- 2.1 The document D1 discloses transplastomic soybeans (see example 6, page 49), bearing the marker gene Aad under the prn promoter (see fig. 7A), introduced in the plastid genome by particle bombardment of leave explants. Shoots are shown in Figure 15, but nothing is mentioned about the fertility of the transplastomic soybeans obtained. Transplastomic tobaccos bearing two genes are also disclosed.
- 2.2 Document D2 relates to a review by the inventor of D1, and published after the filing date of the present application, acknowledging in an implicit way that the soybeans obtained in D1 were not fertile (see pages 453-454 under point 5.5). It can be concluded that D1 is not an enabling disclosure of a fertile transplastomic soybean.
- 2.3 In view of D1 the present application meets the criteria of Article 33(1) PCT, because the subject-matter of claims 1 to 16 is new in the sense of Article 33(2) PCT.
